
Sediment Filters are used primarily at the point-of-entry on the main line for whole-house filtering: remove rust particles, sand, and algae appearing as cloudiness, rust, specks, dirt, particles on bottom of drinking glass or faucet aerator, stains on fixtures, or low water pressure.
